News Media Representatives To Get Sneak Preview Tonight

The 59th annual exposition of the Missouri State Fair opens at eight o'clock Saturday morning, but tonight it is estimated 350 people representing newspaper, radio and television, will get the first look in a preview. Secretary of the Fair, W. H. Ritzenthaler, will host the news media, and pull the curtain aside for them to see what the 1961 fair will provide for Missourians.

The big push has been on for the past several weeks at the fair grounds, getting set for the biggest concentration of competitive events the Missouri fair has ever had. Even through Saturday there will be a constant trail of exhibitors arriving on the grounds with exhibits, cattle, swine, poultry, mules and what-have-you. Everything will be in order by late Saturday for the nine days.

Any disagreement today concerns how-not whether-the United States should beef up its military might to provide the best possible deterrent to war while avoiding a mad arms race and runaway inflation.

Attack on Warren Amazes Norwegians

Drew Pearson writes a column on the Scandinavian countries.)

OSLO, Norway-The little town of Haugesund. Norway, is known to most Norwegians as the birthplace of the father of the chief justice of the United States. Earl Warren's father left Haugesund at the age of two in 1865, migrated to America, and became a locomotive engineer on the Southern Pacific Railway in Bakersfield, Calif.

Every so often the chief justice has come back to Norway and to Sweden, where Mrs. Warren was born. summer was not so much the Berlin crisis,

Every October, 3,000 Norwegians sail with the whaling fleets to the Antarctic, where the big blue whales are still plentiful. There, they spend four months harpooning whales, blowing them up so they'll float, sticking flags on them, then coming back to the dead floating whales 24 hours or so later to tow them to the mother ship.

The latter is a floating factory which uses almost every part of the whale with the same efficiency as the Chicago stock yards use everything about the pig except the squeal.

About 10 hunter vessels are attached to each floating factory, and it was one of these big vessels that was sold to Japan.

Last season the Japanese harpooned 5,900 blue whales, while the Norwegians harpooned 5.190—the first time they lost out to the Japanese. The loss was attributed to the skill of one Japanese harpooner. The Norwegians hitherto have trained the best harpooners. Their skill depends on their ability to gauge the time between the spout of a whale and the time it comes up to spout again. During that next spout the harpoon must be fired.

"Blue whales are from 70 to 140 tons in size," explained a Norwegian guide to Chief Justice Warren. "They have a tongue that

El Salvador Acts

Our tiny neighbor. El Salvador, south of the border, has its own method of fighting communism. The Institute of Rural Colonization has come up with a plan for discouraging discontent among the peasants by distributing seventy-eight thousand manzanas of land to peasant families. A mananza is one and three

Under the present plan about eighteen million dollars would be invested in the purchase of land now owned by the government and privately owned farm lands. The money would come from foreign lending institutions at three per cent annual interest over a period of twenty-two years. The land would be alloted to peasants on the basis of the availability of irrigation and other factors determining fertility. The most fertile lands would be distributed in lots of three manzanas per peasant; and the least fertile in lots of eight manzanas. It is expected that this plan will tend to quell any repeated uprising such as the one in 1932 when thousands of peasants were slain. El Salvador sees the handwriting on the wall and plans to avoid any movement from agitators. El Salvador does not want to be another Cuba.

The Joy Killers

If it had not existed, countless mystery and adventure writers probably would have had to invent it. For it was made a main backdrop for hundreds of murder and spy stories. Now, indeed, the writer will have to spin it from a fictional web. For the Orient Express has made its last run, and thereby robbed European travel of some of its exotic ex-

One big cause, of course, was airplane competition. But another was heavy-handed Iron Curtain interference. The border checks that in fiction spelled suspense became tiresome, painful realities under the control of humorless Communists.

They seem bent not only on conquering the world but on squeezing the fun out of it.

A Proper Label

When men finally set up permanent housekeeping on the moon, they will need some source of drinking water. Scientist Roy G. Brereton of Aerojet-General Corp. has been thinking about the problem and has decided that utilizing the sun's rays to cook moon rocks, which he believes contain a high percentage of water, would solve the problem. The company magazine, reporting the story, added that inevitably the product of this distillation process would be known as "moonshine."

Threats of War Caused Refugee Flow

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News analyst

WASHINGTON (A)-The tough task in judging. Premier Khrushchev's tactics on Berlin is to try to look at them from both the American and the Soviet view to see what makes sense.

From either view there's no doubt he goofed on one thing: the refugee flight from East Ber-

But this is the short-run Berlin problem. On the more important one-whether he can grab off West Berlin-he may turn out to have been much smarter than

By his threats and talk of war, he frightened thousands of Germans in Communist East Germany to flee through Red-held East Berlin into West Berlin, a Western outpost 110 miles inside East Germany.

This was the last thing he wanted to do since the East German Communist regime badly needs their skills and talents. So he had miscalculated and overplayed his hand, and had to seal off East Berlin to stop them.

From any viewpoint this was bad propaganda for Moscow. But it doesn't follow that he has miscalculated-although it might be comforting to the West to think so-on his main purpose which falls into two parts:

1. To take over West Berlin, if not immediately, then eventually. 2. To split the Allies on whether they should stick together-even at the risk of war-to keep him from snatching the city.

This order could be reversed. If he could split the Allies before a showdown on Berlin, he would not have any trouble taking it over. Once this alliance against him was weakened, his power everywhere would be increased enormously.

This is where what he did has to be examined from two sides. Early in June he threatened before the year's end to turn over to the Communist East Germans control of all the access

But it would be a first stepat the least-to weakening the Western Allies' links with their city and their claim to the right to have access to it. It would be the start even though slow, to a takeover.

From the American view it might have seemed shrewder if, after making his initial threat in June, he had played it this way: Avoid threats which might have the effect of driving the Allies together. Let them think he might

ANNUAL MEETING

An 8-line newspaper advertisement gave notice of the annual meeting of the local unit of the American Cancer Society. The time and place were given. The notice carried the signature of the president and it was published only once. Probably nothing earth-shaking came up at the meeting. In all likelihood only routine business was in prospect, with a review of the society's activities ad accomplishments during the year, reports of officers and of committees, and election of officers. But notice was given to members. as well as to the public, of the impending meeting 16 days hence.

This situation has its parallel in meetings or other actions by similar public interest groups. It has a particular parallel in the business field where the public notice is used for such matters as the annual meeting of the company or corporation. It is often used also for the announcement of the declaration of dividends, quarterly or otherwise. Here again the public notice, or legal advertising serves a particular purpose or meets a particular need. It is both a matter of giving information to people concerned and of going on record. The bona fide newspaper of general circulation is a preferred medium for this purpose. In so doing, it renders another service to the public, but in this case as provided by law, and usually at relatively low cost. In short, it is both economical and effective.

Homer Contest Overshadows Pennant Race

tle put the show on the road tonight as the New York Yankees, their race for the American League pennant strictly a side attraction, open a 13-game tour with the first of four games at Cleveland against the Indians.

Maris, with 13 to go to break Babe Ruth's 60 home run record, has belted four of his five homers = off Indians pitching at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. Mantle, trailing Maris by three home runs with his total of 45, has tagged the Cleveland staff for just one homer so far.

For the record, Maris is 14 games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927. He has hit nine home runs in the four parks the Yankees will visit on this trip-Cleveland, 4; Los Angeles, 1; Kansas City, 3, and Minnesota, 1. Mantle has collected seven in the same parks-Cleveland, 1; Los Angeles, 2; Kansas City, 2, and Minnesota, 2.

Cleveland beat Boston 4-3 in 14 innings and Washington defeated the Los Angeles Angels 4-3 in the only other AL games scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis spilled San Francisco 2-0 behind Larry Jackson's three-hit pitching, Philadelphia set a modern NL record when Milwaukee handed the Phils their 20th consecutive defeat 7-6 in 11 innings, and Pittsburgh split with Chicago, the Cubs winning 11-4 before the Bucs took the second game 4-3. Cincinnati and the Los An- 106 West Main geles Dodgers were idle.

Maris, after hitting home runs in each of his last six games. was 0-for-4 against losing southpaw Frank Baumann (9-10) and right-handed reliever Russ Kemmerer of the White Sox. Mantle, who has failed to connect for a home run in his last three games. had one hit, a triple, and drove in two runs as the Yanks put away their 12th victory in 15 games.

A three-run fourth inning did it. Bill Stafford (10-6) was the Whitey Herzog drove in all three Oriole runs with a home run and a single off Paul Foytack (7-8) while Jack Fisher (6-11) limited the Tigers to five hits.

A bases-loaded walk on a 3-2 pitch to Ken Aspromonte by losing reliever Mike Fornieles (6-7) gave it to the Indians. Bobby Locke (4-1) was the winner in relief. A walk ,an error and Bud Zip-fel's sacrifice fly brought in the deciding run for Washington. The victory went to Bennie Daniels (8-6). Ryne Duren (5-11) was the

He called particular attention to the Children's Barnyard, Railroad Exhibit, Homemaker's Workshop, Milking Parlor and Meat Display Case - citing their popularity at earlier fairs - but pointed out that dozens of other free exhibits and demonstrations would be available at the fair grounds in Sedalia.

Ritzenthaler explained that the Children's Barnyard - a zoo made up of farm animals -would be open continuously during the Fair, while two demonstrations a day would be given at the Homemaker's Workshop. The demonstrations are scheduled for 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. and will run for the nine days of the fair, which opens Saturday, Aug. 19.

The Railroad Exhibit will be stationed at the south end of the fairgrounds next to the Floriculture Building, with the Milking Parlor across from the Dairy Barns and the Meat Display case under the grandstand.

Radio Sets

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) Fourteen years ago a newly ordained young Roman Catholic priest arrived in the Colombian Andean hamlet of Sutatenza to take up his first assignment as parish priest.

He brought with him a homemade radio transmitter, three used battery radio sets, and a determination to fight illiteracy and a growing Communist influence among the Colombian peasants.

After the radios were put in farm homes, Father Jose Joaquin Salcedo launched his Radio Sutatenza School of the Air-a project in self-education that today covers all of rural Colombia and has its counterpart in 15 other Latin-American countries.

"I didn't realize what a potent thing we had begun until a group of men came with a complaint,' said Father Salcedo recalling the humble beginnings of his radio project. "They said the classes were held in the evenings when they were tired from their day"s work. They asked me to change the programs to 6 in the morning when their minds would be laxation, I read a book or listen to records."

EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the bright spots for the United States in last year's Olympic competition was the performance of its women's swimming team. And brightest of all the swimmers was teen-ager Chris von Saltza of Saratoga, Calif., who won three gold medals. Now 18 and heading off for college, Chris describes the Joys and disappointments of the strenuous life she is abandoning for concentration on a new career.

By CHRIS VON SALTZA Written for The Associated Press

Six years of competitive swimming have given me a lot, and I'll miss it this fall when I retire from amateur swimming to become a freshman at Stanford University. But college is going to call for more concentrated study, and you can't do two such things and do each of them well.

These last six years have taken me to honors at the Pan American games in Chicago, the 1960 Olympics at Rome, and to other meets at home and abroad. You gain a terrific feeling of accomplishment from competitive swimming. You learn to overcome disappointment, too-as when Jane Cederqvist of Sweden beat me in the 400 meter freestyle event at Tel Aviv early this May.

And you get to know a lot of very nice people.

My parents have encouraged me but they haven't pushed me. They've known swimming is very good for me.

The usual school day starts at 5:30 in the morning, when I get up and swim for two hours. At Los Gatos High School, where I graduated in June, they gave me the first period free. My coach at the Santa Clara Swim Club, George Haines, also is swim coach at school, and he arranged for my swimming instruction instead of gym classes.

In addition to classes at school, I worked on the Student Council and Student Court. This year, I was Commissioner of Student Activities, which meant coordinating student clubs and activities throughout school.

After school, there is no time to go with the gang. I swim for two or two-and-a-half hours. I date once in a while, especially in the fall when there aren't so many swim meets. I usually have to be home from dates by midnight, unless there's a prom or some special event.

I don't mind giving up some dates for swimming because it makes the times I do go out more

In order to keep an A average. I had to study about two or three hours a night, and at least a full day on weekends. On trips to swimming meets, the books went

For relaxation, I read a book or listen to records. If there's a free day, I go to the beach. All sports are fun, and I used to be a horse fan, but when swimming started, all else went out the win-

Around the house, my main duties are keeping my own room neat. I enjoy cooking, but don't have much time for it. And I guess there will be plenty of time later for that.

This summer, I'll be swimming in local meets. In July, there'll be the National AAU championships in Philadelphia, and in August a five-week trip to Europe.

Then-college. I hope to study political science and languages for a posible diplomatic service ca-

The Associated Press asked if I'd like to pass on any advice to other teen-agers. The most important advice, it seems to me, is: Try to enjoy what you do. Work hard and you will succeed at it, Plains Indians looked to the sun for supernatural powers. In early summer, Indians held a "sun dance" around a forked pole. Hour after hour the fasting Indians danced, staring at the sun—until at last the exalted dancers saw visions. The sun dance, still held in early summer, is now part of some local July 4th festivies in the west.

Now we have the word of those who have seen it personally—out in space, the sky is black. The sunlight is white, a balanced mixture of all colors. Wayne, Shuster Ask Fans; Be Patient With Program

By DICK KLEINER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TV Notebook

NEW YORK -(NEA)- Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster have a message for all their fans: be

They're not too happy with their first few "Holiday Lodge" programs, either. But, given time, they feel that they'll be able to reach a compromise with the format they were handed, and "work something out."

"They want us to be warm and lovable," Wayne says. Presumably, "they" refers to the net-work, but Wayne didn't elaborate. "Warr and lovable! Who needs it? We're supposed to be funny."

Shuster added that "there are precedents for a situation comedy to be funny-Bilko, Lucy - and also precedents for a situation comedy to be bad."

The format was worked out before they were signed. They've tried to adjust to it, but admit it's a slow process. For the first time, they are doing comedy, material written by somebody other than themselves.

"Trying to get writers to give us funny stuff written within this format is the big problem," Wayne says. "And I just don't know if we can do it within 13 weeks."

That's all the time they have. If they succeed, fine. If not, well, it's no great tragedy. They have to get back home to Canada anyhow, where they are under contract to the Canadian Broadcasting Co. This summer making TV films is part education, part va-

"We've always wanted to learn the film business," Shuster says. "And both of our families are with us in Hollywood all summer long. It makes a very nice way to spend the summer, no matter what happens with the show."

As usual, Bob Banner is full of plans. The producer of Candid

Camera and The Garry Moore Show, still looking more like a college senior than a large wheel in the entertainment business, rattled them off:

1. Alan King's own show. He'll do a situation comedy, with one gimmick-every once in a while, he'll turn to the camera with "asides." The pilot for this will be on the air, sponsored, the week before Hennesey returns. It's the first time, as far as Banner knows, that the public will have a chance to see a pilot film before it is either sold or rejected. The public's reaction could conceivably influence the potential sponsors.

2. A supernatural series, being written by Joseph Stefano, who wrote "Psycho" and "The Naked Edge." Banner is aiming for January for this one.

3. A music-and-comedy series, just in the talking, planning stage. This would have a story line and not be just a variety show.

Meanwhile, Garry Moore will be back in the fall with his "family" intact. That Wonderful Year will be kept, too; "we put that on first for a temporary run, but we coudn't possibly drop it nowthe audience would throw tomatoes at us."

GBS - Radio newscaster Allan Jackson is conducting a campaign to improve the quality of what he calls "broadcast journalism." By that he means news writing on both radio and TV. He says it is too often written to be read, rather than spoken, and therefore becomes awkward

He has written a 22-page critique of broadcast journalism TV news copy which he has collected:

1. A radio news story which referred to "the handsome ship's radio operator." Who was hand-some, Jackson asks-the ship or the operator?

2. A commentator who said, "Nikita Khrushchev was literally grinning." Jackson wonders how one can grin figuratively.

3. "The parting of Churchill, his stooped figure well bundled against the cool weather, from the tall, erect Baruch was touching." Jackson's comment: "Careful, bub, you're letting the object from the predicate get lost."

4. "Archbishop Koenig was seriously injured in the automobile accident. Koenig suffered a skull fracture, one of his companions in the oar was killed, another was even more seriously injured." Says Jackson: "And THAT'S neat trick, too, if you can get away with it."
